Chamberlain Will Disclose Pledge to Norway, Sweden

LONDON, March 15.—The Daily Mail predicted today that Prime Minister Chamberlain will disclose secret assurances said to have been made two months ago to Norway and Sweden of Allied support if, in giving help to Finland, they became involved in war with Soviet Russia or Germany.

ELEVEN HURT IN RAIL CRASH NEAR MED. HAT

Eastbound Passenger Train Collides Head-On With Engine

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., March 15.—Eleven were injured today seriously, when No. 4 Canadian Pacific passenger train from Calgary crashed head on into a pusher engine at 12:15 Friday morning.

The engine tender, mail, baggage and express cars of the passenger train were derailed and several hundred feet of track were torn up. The mail car and all its contents were burned.

The accident occurred at Dennis siding, 30 miles west of Medicine Hat.

TRAINMEN INJURED
Engineer of passenger engine A. Foulton, Medicine Hat, fractured right elbow and leg, severe shock. Fireman of passenger engine S. E. Slansky, Medicine Hat, lacerations and shock.

Fireman of passenger engine W. Newell, Calgary, possible broken leg, possible fractured ankle and lacerated scalp, left ear and jaw. Severe shock.

Engineer of passenger engine O. Sinclair, Calgary, fracture of right knee, lacerations on scalp, bruised chest, severe shock.

P. Hokey, Calgary, severe lacerations of left hand and scalp. Porter, name unknown, severe lacerations to head.

PASSENGERS INJURED
J. A. Milne, 123 Ruby street, Winnipeg, injuries to back, believed severe and bruised to head and neck muscles.

H. W. Wallace, 187 West 50th Street, Kansas City, Mo., strained neck muscles.

Henry Black, 210 College Avenue, Regina, bruised back muscles. W. P. McGrew, 70 Denison street, Winnipeg, strained neck muscles.

C. W. Rigg, 227 Waterloo Street, Toronto, bruised top of head and neck.

Several other passengers received bruises or were suffering from shock.

PUSHER DELAYED
The pusher engine operated by driver A. Foulton and fireman S. E. Slansky is said to have left Medicine Hat where it was to crash the passenger train, in some cases the pusher was delayed, and when Engineer Foulton saw the headlight of the passenger engine approaching at a speed estimated at nearly 70 miles per hour, he should have been to the front to jump.

When Engineer Sinclair saw the headlight of the oncoming pusher engine he jammed on the emergency brakes but the force of the impact was terrific. The passenger train was literally telescoped to half its size and thrown back more than 200 yards.

The passenger engine after traveling up several hundred feet of track rolled over on its side in the ditch. The tender was then loose and the mail car which could fire immediately was thrown into the ditch. It followed by the express and baggage cars.

KING ACTS AS TICKET-TAKER AT SOUTH PORT

A SOUTH COAST PORT, England, March 15.—A strange returning from France on leave and having to his train, handed him a leave voucher book to the ticket collector.

The collector tore out the green pass, and returned the book. The soldier took it, and the collector smiled pleasantly.

The sergeant, amused at the soldier's action, picked up the book and handed it to the ticket collector.

His Majesty, who had been watching officers and men landing from the ship, called out to a soldier who was a ticket collector to see how the return was carried out.

The soldier was King George VI. He was a ticket collector to see how the return was carried out.

Their Gallant Defence Ended In Bitter Peace

With the recently concluded peace pact between Russia and Finland, the gallant defence waged by Baron Gustav Mannerheim and his small Finnish army came to an end. The heroic three and a half month defence put up by the inferior forces of Finland against the Red hordes of Dictator Stalin will undoubtedly go down in history as one of the most gallant and intrepid military defenses of all time.

AUTO LICENSES WILL BE ISSUED FIRST OF WEEK

Automobile license plates for the new license year, which starts April 1, will be issued throughout the province beginning Monday, it was announced by Edmund Troubridge, deputy provincial secretary.

Plates will be mailed out from the departmental offices Friday night and throughout Saturday, so that by Monday, 160 issuing points will be equipped and ready to serve the public.

Mr. Troubridge estimated that 30,000 plates would be distributed over the week-end.

The plates will have an added feature this year, in that the words "Drive Safely" will be included at the bottom in raised letters.

Resulting from this early issuance of plates, automobile drivers will be enabled to drive their cars through the last days of the election campaign and over the Easter week-end.

Peace Agreement Is Submitted To Finn Parliament

HELSINKI, March 15.—The official Finnish radio announced today that President Juho Kallio had submitted the Russo-Finnish peace treaty to parliament for ratification.

The radio announcement did not indicate whether debate on the treaty in parliament had terminated.

Earlier reports from Finland submitted the Russo-Finnish peace treaty to parliament for ratification.

2 MEN, WOMAN LOSE LIVES IN TORONTO FIRE

Avonmore Hotel At Jarvis and Gerrard Streets Is Destroyed

TORONTO, March 15.—Firemen at noon today were searching for the bodies of three people, two men and a woman, who were killed in a fire which destroyed the Avonmore hotel, Jarvis street, for further victims of fire known to have taken three lives and to have injured a score of persons. Property damage was estimated at $100,000.

The dead are: Mrs. Nellie Gibson, Toronto; James Hart, Toronto, and the 16-year-old son of Mr. William Gifford, another guest to the hotel, who was killed in a hospital in a serious condition. A fireman, who was suffering from serious burns or injuries received when they jumped from second or third floors, was also killed.

GUESTS WARNED
Arthur Oswald, night clerk, noticed flames in the dining room shortly after midnight. He called upstairs to ring an alarm and then went from room to room to warn guests.

Oswald twice ran back into the burning building to give warning to any guests who may not have heard his first warning. Firemen and Oswald's clothes were on fire when he made his first exit.

"It was just a puff of smoke at first," he said from the hospital bed where he is being treated for his burns. "The flames licked like mad along the halls. I could hardly keep my eyes open."

Gifford saved some guests with leaders. He tried to get them out of the building, but he was unable to do so. He was killed by the flames.

But by dawn the soldiers in the front lines were donning their ski gear. Many were natives of the regions they were now leaving, volunteers or reservists who, when the war started, took a gift from the wall of their home and went out to fight with others of their village and farm areas.

Tomorrow, the Finnish with drawn began the first four miles, the Russian are to keep going with them, maintaining an interval of 100 yards.

The withdrawal, under the treaty provisions, is to be made at the rate of about four miles a day. The first four miles, the Russian are to keep going with them, maintaining an interval of 100 yards.

U.K. Acts To Meet Trade Threat From Three Power Bloc

LONDON, March 15.—Great Britain brought three new weapons into her economic front line today to meet the threat of a German-Russian-Italian bloc aimed at capturing her trade.

Her effort is intended to fortify the British position in the economic struggle by increasing her reserves of foreign exchange for purchases of war supplies, mobilizing the resources of the British and French colonial empires and driving German securities from British money markets.

These measures coincided with reports in Belgrade that foreign minister Jaschyn von Ribbentrop of Germany had suggested in Italy formation of a German-Italian-Russian economic bloc with "all small states between these powers."

As reported in Belgrade, von Ribbentrop's proposal to the Italian government would put European small states in the economic orbit of the three totalitarian powers, with whom they already do most of their trading.

No Fault of the Allies

The Finnish foreign minister, more in sorrow than in anger, puts the blame for Finland's defeat upon the refusal of Sweden and Norway to permit Allied forces to pass through their territory to the aid of their neighbor state.

He thus acquits the Allies in advance of any charge that they were afraid, unwilling, or unable to give Finland the support it needed. That is the important point—not the fact that the Allies and Norway responsible for his country's disaster. Britain and France did not "desert" Finland. There was no road open by which they could send the help they were ready to extend to it.

Always in Action

The Salvation Army differs from all others in that it is always on active service. There is no truce to the campaign it wages against those which wreck human lives, to relieve distress and restore lost hope. It fights to prevent hardship and misery, as well as to relieve distress and misery. The war has brought to the Army, as did the war a quarter of a century ago, a call to go overseas with our fighting forces and contribute to their comfort and welfare as opportunity may offer. This is doing. But the work it carries on at home is not to be neglected.

In Edmonton and in all parts of the practical and conserving activities of the organization are to be carried on as usual.

For these purposes the Army is appealing for money. Edmonton people are being asked to contribute $30,000 to the funds. The sum is considerable, and will go a long way to help support the institutions the Army maintains in the war in Europe; and followed this remarkable statement by saying he and his associates pledge themselves to protect "British rights, liberties and freedom" in this Dominion. Unfortunately he did not supply the key by which to bring these two deadly inconsistencies into the same sentence.

We Either Fight for Them or Lose Them

Mr. Woodworth told his Edmonton hearers there are many things more important to Canada than the war in Europe; and followed this remarkable statement by saying he and his associates pledge themselves to protect "British rights, liberties and freedom" in this Dominion. Unfortunately he did not supply the key by which to bring these two deadly inconsistencies into the same sentence.

If Herr Hitler were the war there would certainly be no such things as British rights, liberties and freedom left in Canada, whatever any Canadian or Canadian present political party might say. There will in that event be no C.C.F. party in this Dominion, no Liberal party, no Conservative party, nor any other of the political organizations with which we are familiar and which we have forged for the carrying on of popular government.

Should that be the outcome of the war, there will be just a handful of Canadians and the Hitler party; the rest of us will be in internment camps, or will have to hide our political views under a spy-proof pretence of acquiescence with Nazism. What anybody not a Nazi happened to think about anything would then make no difference, except to land him behind the bars if he expressed his opinions.

The one and only effective way to preserve our rights, liberties and freedom at this unfortunate juncture is to win the war and thus keep for ourselves the privilege of making our own laws and institutions. When Mr. Woodworth's delegates to the war to secondary place he almost says our rights, liberties and freedom are not worth trying to preserve.

The Reaction From Finland

The destruction of Finland may well be hailed at Berlin as a Nazi victory on the economic front. While Russia had to support a steadily growing army to fight the Finns, Germany could not get the Russian materials it requires and for which it bargained. That home demand having ceased, Moscow will now be in a position to divert supplies to its ally.

The end of the Finnish war is thus something of more than sympathetic concern to the countries who are fighting Germany, Canada included. It reduces in some measure the value of the Allied blockade of German ports. Oil, wheat, timber, metals, and such other war needs as Russia is able to supply can now be drawn upon by the Russians, to the limits of the supplies available and the capacity of the Russian transportation systems.

If the Nazis intend to launch a spring offensive, as they have been supposed to intend, this freeing of Russian supplies to them is a matter of first-rate importance. The likelihood of the offensive must be assumed to be increased by the timely end of the drain to the Finnish front.

In Canada and every other Allied country preparations to meet an offensive both the bitter and sustained must be pushed ahead as energetically as possible. The output of munitions must be speeded up, and men recruited and put in training as rapidly as can be equated. There must be no interruption of the programs agreed upon, for political or any other reason.

Should the expected spring offensive come it will not end with spring. It will continue indefinitely. The Allies have prepared to meet the first shock. What is required now is to build up reserves of munitions and trained men to be sent forward as required and as long as may be required.

Editorial Notes

A Copenhagen newspaper says if Finland was given a guarantee of its new border by Germany, "the realistic Finns must know that it will never be effective unless it is in Germany's interests". To such level have the Nazis brought Germany's credit in its neighbor nations.

Von Ribbentrop, it transpires, went to Italy to try to get Mussolini to accept Stalin as a member in good standing of the aggressor fraternity. Having attacked a small people, beaten them, and stolen so much of their territory as he wants at the moment, Josef is considered qualified to take his place along with the perjured ravishers of Ethiopia, Poland and China.

Two R. C. A. F. fliers who were forced to make a landing in New York state because of engine trouble were released by the United States authorities on the ground that they entered the country in distress, and given 24 hours in which to depart. The rule apparently is that a disabled war-plane is entitled to the same treatment that is afforded a warship which puts into a neutral port to get necessary supplies or repair damages.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

England has recalled to active service five retired Admirals of the Fleet, Sir John Jellicoe, Sir David Beatty, Sir John Fisher, Sir John Jellicoe, Sir Frederick Field and Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt. Ranks in the Navy are higher than similarly named ranks in the Army. Thus, a naval Vice-Admiral is comparable to a Major-General in the Army.

DRAGON'S DRUM. Army captain. An Admiral of the Fleet is comparable to a Field Marshal in the Army.

These retired admirals may not be sent to sea—they may release younger men now holding shore commands. But the order seems to indicate preparation for increased activity.

Sir Frederick Field is the only one of the five I have met. He brought a quotation headed by the Hood into Vancouver about twelve years ago. He has witnessed the transformation of the British Navy, going to sea as a midshipman in a sailing frigate with auxiliary power and reaching command of a powerful speedy floating fortress like the Hood.

Talking on that occasion to a number of retired naval officers, he told of the different attitude in the Navy nowadays. In his early days no junior officer dared make a suggestion for improvement to his senior. "Now," he said, "even a suggestion for improvement made by a lower-deck rating would receive consideration."

"I came near to giving up the Navy as a career," he said, "because of being snubbed for making suggestions. One day I was in the forenoon of an anchor drill. I suggested a change that would prevent a recurrence of such an accident, and was snubbed by my commander in the presence of my very brother."

He was loudly creating and the commander was very proud of him. Sometimes at night when the commander was below, I'd call his dog to bed. He was very proud of him. Sometimes at night when the commander was below, I'd call his dog to bed. He was very proud of him.

A week ago in this column I quoted from an article by Dr. Hugh Cabot, of the Mayo Clinic, in protest against the attitude of the organized medical profession in the United States toward a service. This opposition, he openly charged, is due to the selfish attitude of many practitioners who fear that they lose opportunity for a fee.

A MEDICAL "CONSPIRACY". The charge isn't true of all doctors. Many give services for which they are paid. Within the last two weeks I heard a grateful patient liken one Edmonton physician to the Army aviator, Captain James, for his unselfishness and charity. But these men never get wealthy patients.

Within the last few days the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Washington has laid down an indictment against the American Medical Association and two allied medical societies for conspiracy in restraint of trade.

The associations are charged with penalizing and persecuting doctors who accepted contracts for group health services, declared more than a month later, that our freedom was still unimpaired.

Dr. Manion's discovery that the liberties of the people are in peril dates from the beginning of this election campaign. He is like the man who strayed down the street long after the parade had passed out of sight. "Which way did the parade go?" he asked. "That way," said a spectator, indicating the direction. "But why do you ask?" "Why do I ask?" the man replied. "I don't know I should be at the head of the procession!"

The Radio Censorship

By GRANT DEXTER

Since Dr. Manion began his campaign, he has discovered that the Defense of Canada regulations, particularly the radio censorship, are a menace to the liberties of the people.

At Toronto on March 2 (Globe and Mail), he said: "The liberties we hold so dear are at stake." The following day at Ottawa he said (Canadian Press), "Conditions in Canada are getting near those in Germany when public men are gagged when they try to use the radio to broadcast their political views."

Many other passages in Dr. Manion's speeches could be cited.

The Defense of Canada Regulations were promulgated on September 8, 1939 and the radio censorship which is based upon them became effective forthwith. The Defense of Canada Regulations and the censorship regulations were tabled in the House of Commons on September 7 on the opening day of the special war session. The record will be found at page 2 revised Herald of the September session.

Dr. Manion, speaking on the following day (page 12 Herald) declared that this was "a war of the following day at Ottawa he said (Canadian Press), "Conditions in Canada are getting near those in Germany when public men are gagged when they try to use the radio to broadcast their political views."

The radio censorship became an issue in the Quebec election. The controversy broke on Sept. 28 and continued until polling day. Not only the radio censorship but the censorship regulations were being denounced daily, did Dr. Manion utter a syllable in criticism of them.

Indeed on Dec. 16 at Montreal Dr. Manion addressed the Dominion Commercial Travellers' association and questioned the Government's attitude as follows: "Today," observed Dr. Manion "Canada has liberty, the liberty of sitting here tonight, of thinking as we like, worshipping as we like, printing in our newspapers what we like, liberties we have had so long we have perhaps lost a sense of their value, but if we lost them we would realize what they mean."

From the outset there were public men in Canada who opposed the censorship regulations. Dr. Manion was not one of them. Hon. C. E. Cahan, Conservative member in the last parliament for St. Lawrence and St. George is one of them. Mr. Cahan denounced the censorship regulations in November, 1939. He got no support from the radio. Dr. Manion, Mr. Cahan said in November that vital liberties were threatened. Dr. Manion, as we have seen, declared more than a month later, that our freedom was still unimpaired.

Dr. Manion's discovery that the liberties of the people are in peril dates from the beginning of this election campaign. He is like the man who strayed down the street long after the parade had passed out of sight. "Which way did the parade go?" he asked. "That way," said a spectator, indicating the direction. "But why do you ask?" "Why do I ask?" the man replied. "I don't know I should be at the head of the procession!"

Side Glances

By GRANT DEXTER

Since Dr. Manion began his campaign, he has discovered that the Defense of Canada regulations, particularly the radio censorship, are a menace to the liberties of the people.

At Toronto on March 2 (Globe and Mail), he said: "The liberties we hold so dear are at stake." The following day at Ottawa he said (Canadian Press), "Conditions in Canada are getting near those in Germany when public men are gagged when they try to use the radio to broadcast their political views."

Many other passages in Dr. Manion's speeches could be cited.

The Defense of Canada Regulations were promulgated on September 8, 1939 and the radio censorship which is based upon them became effective forthwith. The Defense of Canada Regulations and the censorship regulations were tabled in the House of Commons on September 7 on the opening day of the special war session. The record will be found at page 2 revised Herald of the September session.

Dr. Manion, speaking on the following day (page 12 Herald) declared that this was "a war of the following day at Ottawa he said (Canadian Press), "Conditions in Canada are getting near those in Germany when public men are gagged when they try to use the radio to broadcast their political views."

The radio censorship became an issue in the Quebec election. The controversy broke on Sept. 28 and continued until polling day. Not only the radio censorship but the censorship regulations were being denounced daily, did Dr. Manion utter a syllable in criticism of them.

Indeed on Dec. 16 at Montreal Dr. Manion addressed the Dominion Commercial Travellers' association and questioned the Government's attitude as follows: "Today," observed Dr. Manion "Canada has liberty, the liberty of sitting here tonight, of thinking as we like, worshipping as we like, printing in our newspapers what we like, liberties we have had so long we have perhaps lost a sense of their value, but if we lost them we would realize what they mean."

From the outset there were public men in Canada who opposed the censorship regulations. Dr. Manion was not one of them. Hon. C. E. Cahan, Conservative member in the last parliament for St. Lawrence and St. George is one of them. Mr. Cahan denounced the censorship regulations in November, 1939. He got no support from the radio. Dr. Manion, Mr. Cahan said in November that vital liberties were threatened. Dr. Manion, as we have seen, declared more than a month later, that our freedom was still unimpaired.

Dr. Manion's discovery that the liberties of the people are in peril dates from the beginning of this election campaign. He is like the man who strayed down the street long after the parade had passed out of sight. "Which way did the parade go?" he asked. "That way," said a spectator, indicating the direction. "But why do you ask?" "Why do I ask?" the man replied. "I don't know I should be at the head of the procession!"

Protest Vote

Editor, Bulletin: Since E. L. Gray and D. M. Duggan, former leaders of the Liberal and Conservative parties in Alberta, sold their followers to the United Council success to the municipal campaign, I am writing to you to express my protest.

Neither Mr. Gray nor Mr. Duggan represent anyone but themselves in running as Independents. J. R. Bowen, Liberal leader here, and Mr. Gray, Conservative leader here, are the only two who have not sold their followers to the United Council success to the municipal campaign.

Experience has proven that the old independent gets elected. The new independent gets elected. The old independent gets elected. The new independent gets elected.

Editor: I have just received a letter to the Bulletin signed Liberal. The letter was written in connection with the election of the Liberal party in Alberta, and he ended his letter with the words "What a joke!"

NAZIS WANTED POLES TO HELP FIGHT SOVIETS

Reich Attempted To Have Poland Assist In War Against Russia

PARIS, March 15.—The charge that Germany over a period of years tried to lead Poland into a joint war on Soviet Russia was made yesterday in an official white book issued by the Polish government-in-exile.

The book contained reports and documents intended to support the contention.

One allegation was that Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, while visiting Poland in 1933, proposed that the Poles and the Germans divide up the spoils of war in the Ukraine.

JUSTIFIES EXECUTION
Adolf Hitler himself declared in a talk with Josef Lippki, last Polish ambassador to Germany, at Berlin in 1933, the book claimed, that General Kurt von Schleicher, who died in the first Nazi blood purge, June 30, 1934, aided in formation of a military power in Soviet Russia and that this was sufficiently justified Schleicher's end.

Epistol quoted Hitler as saying he favored "a certain measure of disarmament" pointing out that certain weapons such as heavy tanks and bombs were too dangerous to use because the weapons might be used by the enemy in turn.

The Poles always sidestepped Germany's offer to fight Russia because they believed the offers were intended merely as first steps toward German domination of Europe, the white book contended. The white book told how the Polish ambassador to Moscow, Wladyslaw Grynowski, was expelled from his post at 2:30 a.m. last Sept. 17 and advised that the Red army was preparing to march into Poland.

BROKE OFF RELATIONS

The ambassador was handed a note signed by the Soviet Premier, Vyacheslav Molotov, said the book, in which he told Grynowski to cut off diplomatic relations with his country.

It was set forth in the 220-page white book that Grynowski refused to recognize the note or even to inform his government, but debated ineffectually until 4:30 a.m. with the Soviet vice-minister for foreign affairs, Vladimir Potemkin. He was told two hours later that Soviet troops had crossed the border.

The book asserted also that the German foreign office failed to communicate the Reich's final 16 demands to the Polish ambassador in Berlin before Nazi troops crossed Poland's frontiers last Sept. 1.

The service will include purchasing, packing and delivery of goods to any destination. These services as well as insurance and customs declarations will be provided free of charge.

As far as possible Canadian goods will be used in the parcels and they will be sent from Canada in bulk for packaging in England.

($27,546 a Year)

This race horse, owned by Charles S. Howard, San Francisco motor magnate, has broken all track records for lifetime earnings. He cleaned up the earnings by taking $85,000 on Santa Anita Handicap.

DR. HARRY STEENSBROCK

($4,000 to $6,000 a Year)

Saved millions of children from crippling effects of rickets by developing process for introducing Vitamin D into foods through action of ultra-violet rays. He received a million dollars for his process, but received more than half that from its development by a scientific foundation. He is a professor of medicine. Salary figures above are estimates.

CANADA ARMED SERVICES TAKE VOTE IN STRIDE

Troops In Dominion Will Start Saturday To Mark
Ballots

OTTAWA, March 15.—Soldiers, sailors and airmen in Canada's armed forces are taking the election campaign in their stride.

Those in Canada start voting tomorrow, in days ahead of the time set for civilian voting.

A check of orderly ranks of a few typical units in training in Canada brought reports that little was being heard of the election campaign. That does not mean, however, that the men are not interested and will not cast their votes. Some are concerned to regard themselves as civilians, in duty bound not to show political partisanship in public.

MAY ATTEND MEETINGS

Political meetings on military premises are forbidden, but most units stationed in Canada are within easy reach of places where civilian meetings are held and politically-minded soldiers, sailors and airmen may attend meetings during leave. A fair sprinkling of uniformed men may be found at most meetings held near units.

Starting Saturday, "Active Service Elections" as the members of the forces who are without easy reach of places where civilian meetings are held and politically-minded soldiers, sailors and airmen may attend meetings during leave. A fair sprinkling of uniformed men may be found at most meetings held near units.

The marked ballots must be mailed by the voters themselves to special returning officers located at Halifax for Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island; at Ottawa for Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba; and at Edmonton for Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia and Yukon.

POSTAGE IS FREE

The voter is provided with an addressed envelope and postage is free. The only catch is that the ballot must reach the returning officer by 8 p.m. local time March 26, the day of the vote.

Active service voters in Canada may record their votes between March 16 and March 23, except on Sunday and Good Friday. The overseas forces may vote from yesterday until March 23.

Through official channels the active service voters will be provided with a list of candidates in all constituencies, and the different party organizations are taking steps to acquaint the men with the names of their constituency candidates.

Unlike the ballot box in civilian voting the ballot for active service voters will not bear candidate names. Instead of marking an X opposite the name of the candidate of his choice the active service voter will write the candidate's name on the ballot.

SYSTEM DIFFERENT
Before doing that, however, he must make a sworn declaration of his name, rank, regimental number, and his last place of ordinary residence in civilian life. All that will be recorded on an "outer envelope" and signed by the voter and the officer presiding at the voting.

The voter then will be handed his ballot and a blank "inner envelope." After marking the ballot, he will fold it, place it in the "inner envelope," seal it and hand it to the officer presiding who will place the sealed "inner envelope" in the "outer envelope" seal the letter and hand the whole back to the voter for mailing.

This procedure is prescribed to ensure secrecy as to each man's vote and fairness in counting.

Courageous Fishermen Sink German Submarine After Running Fight

LONDON, March 15.—A U-boat recently was sunk by an armed trawler off the north-east coast of Scotland, following a 11-hour running battle mainly as a result of smart engine-room work aboard the unmanned British craft, it was disclosed yesterday.

George Leonard Westerton, 31-year-old chief engineer, was awarded the distinguished service medal for gallantry and devotion to duty. It was disclosed the trawler's engine shifted five inches as the engineers, working in water up to their knees, pushed the vessel's speed past its previous top mark of 15 knots to 18 1/2 knots.

The trawler dropped depth charges when it spotted a submarine which was forced to surface. The U-boat, opened fire with its deck gun. The trawler replied and the U-boat fled, running to its superior speed to escape.

But the courageous trawler crew was determined to get the undersea foe. The engines were pushed to the utmost and the submarine again came into gun range and was sunk.

"Our position was extremely dangerous and no doubt the whole crew risked their lives," said Capt. Westerton.

"Throughout the chase the vessels pounded each other with shells. Closer and closer the trawler drew."

NAZIS UNABLE ENTER CANADA BY HUDSON BAY

TORONTO, March 15.—Major David L. McKean, Dominion government superintendent of the eastern Arctic, said in an interview yesterday that it virtually would be impossible for a German warship to enter Hudson Bay without being seen as it passed through Hudson Strait.

All ships are barred by ice from Hudson Bay from Oct. 10 to Aug. 1, he said. The 10 short weeks of navigation leave an open route from the Atlantic to James Bay, but during this time, Hudson Strait, through which all ships must pass, is dotted with Eskimo fishermen. Government radio stations would flash word of any attempted invasion to Ottawa, 1,500 miles south.

HOSTESS HOME FOR SOLDIERS NOW PLANNED

Women Providing Comfortable Accommodation For Troops

Supplying the Canadian troops with hand-knitted socks and plenty of good warm clothing was and is a good thing, but a number of women in Edmonton decided that it was just as good a thing—almost—to make sure that the men have a place where they can entertain or be entertained. So an Edmonton Garrison Hostess Home is being organized in the city. It will be open in about 10 days' time.

Through facilities offered by the Y.M.C.A., a portion of the west gymnasium of the "Y" is being renovated to provide entertainment and reception quarters for the men who are in training at the local barracks.

RECEPTION PLACE

Plays will be presented and social affairs held for the men between training periods. Also the Hostess Home will serve as a reception place where the men can receive and entertain their mothers and wives.

There are about 800 men now under arms in the city. Many of them have no place to go for an evening except picture shows. Hence the decision to open a club house for their use.

All over Canada these Hostess houses have sprung up, extending a welcome to all who enter and filling a definite need.

Executive members of the committee in charge of the house have made an announcement of the immediate needs of the house, including chesterfields, comfortable chairs, card tables, ferns, desks, large rugs, large pictures, kitchen utensils, games of all kinds, literature and writing facilities. Offers of donations may be telephoned to 82764.

In regard to the request for furniture, including chesterfields and chairs, Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., Edmonton Garrison Commandant, has advised the executive that soldiers will repair any furniture which is in poor condition.

EXECUTIVE

Mrs. Norman Cook is president of the executive, and members are Mrs. John Tanner, vice-president; Mrs. Philip Debnor, second vice-president; Mrs. R. J. Downing, third vice-president; Miss Sylvia Primrose, recording secretary; Miss Sylvia Evans, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. Ramsey, treasurer.

Conveners of the various committees are Mrs. James Bell, airport; Mrs. Stewart Matheson, entertainment; Mrs. W. D. Ferris and Mrs. Allan Gillies, housework; Mrs. Norman Cook, ways and means; and Mrs. C. V. Dacre, refreshments.

Signallers' Exams

Capt. J. T. Freeman, former commanding officer of the 8th Cavalry Signals of this city and now District Officer for Military District No. 12 is a city visitor to conduct examinations of the 91st and 111th Field Batteries.

He will go to Wetaskiwin on Sunday and as a member of a committee examining candidates in an officers training class.

Examinations are being held also in Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat.

S. A. REPORTS $5,517 SO FAR FOR CAMPAIGN

Citizens Responding to Army's $30,000 Fund Drive Here

Fine response on the part of citizens was reported Thursday at a meeting of officials directing the Salvation Army's War and National Service fund.

Officials, who met at a luncheon in the Royal George Cafe, reported that they have already collected $5,517 in cash donations from city business firms and their employees. The objective for the city is $30,000. The campaign opened Tuesday.

Employees of the firms which have been approached so far are giving good support, canvassers reported. H. H. Cooper Limited and employees donated $200. Northwest Utilities Limited and employees gave $200. Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen of the N.A.R. made an untold contribution of $114. W. H. Clarke Lumber Company and employees gave $42.25.

These are only a few of the donations which indicate the support being given to the fund. Report from the Women's Division is also very encouraging. Major W. Waterhouse said.

Next meeting of committee chairmen is scheduled for Monday noon at the Royal George Cafe.

COURT GRANTS CONSENT FOR COMPANY PLAN

Holding that the reorganization of the Edmonton City Dairy Limited, as approved by the majority shareholders, is for the benefit of all classes of security holders, Chief Justice Harvey in Supreme Court chambers on Friday gave his judicial consent to the plan.

Refutation had been opposed by a minority group of preference shareholders who claimed that under the reorganization their shares are placed behind the first mortgage and general bond interest funds.

"I would not hesitate to use my authority to refuse consent to the plan if any injustice was being done, but it seems to me that the scheme will work to the advantage of all the company is putting in valuable properties which will improve the position of all and I see no reason why I should not allow the scheme to be approved," said His Lordship. The Chief Justice said it was gratifying to find that all classes of shareholders expressed the fullest confidence in the local directors.

PASTOR DEFENDS POLITICIANS AT ROTARY MEETING

The active service of every man and woman in the body politic is necessary if democracy is to be healthy and survive, Rev. J. Gordon Brown, minister of Robertson United Church, told the Rotary Club at a luncheon meeting in the Macdonald Thursday. Mr. Brown spoke in defence of the politician in a democracy, stressing that the responsibility for political life rests primarily with the people of a country.

"Asking 'Is democracy worth fighting for?' Mr. Brown said, 'I imagine we are agreed some form of government is preferable to anarchy. Without some form of law and order there is no security for an individual. Without security there can be no progress. The problem becomes: what form of government is best for maintaining law and order and what form aids best in establishing conditions favorable to the development of the good life for all its citizens.'

He stated that the best type was that which produces a condition of settled peace with the least interruption of law.

"I am prepared to test every religion, every political system, and every form of government by the criterion of whether it on the whole contributes toward the free, full development of varied human personality. Ideally, democracy does. It alone rests on the divine right of personality."

He outlined the many difficulties under which the politician has to work in a democracy. "The politician must be that impossible creature who keeps an ear to the ground, a finger to the wind and an eye to the horizon, while maintaining an uncomfortable position on the fence. He is no more double-jointed than we are, but we can afford to be wrong, and he can't," he said.

C.C.F. Would Try Recover Indemnity Paid To Members

CALGARY, March 15.—If the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation once more into power as a result of the provincial election, it would explore every possibility for recovering the recent $2,000 indemnities paid to members of the last legislature for their seven-day session. Chester A. Manning, provincial C.C.F. leader, told an audience of 500 here last night.

"They were entitled to $10 per day and should be turned back into the public coffers," the C.C.F. leader said.

Modern Puzzles —BY GERALD L. KAUFMAN— KEEP ON GOING

In this progressive series, you should guess the relationship between the terms given. Some of them are honest-to-goodness series, while others are just four-term idea associations. Still others are combinations of the two. For example:

One, Two, Three — a true series, in which the 4th term is obviously: Four.
Eny, Menny, Miny — an idea association in which the 4th term is certainly: Meny.
Jan—A, Mar—E, May—I — a combination of these, with alternate months combined with vowels, 4th term is Jul—O.
You can make a game of this by reading each row in turn to a group of friends, to see who can be first to call out the 4th term correctly. Solution tomorrow.

Maybe a Dress Rehearsal!

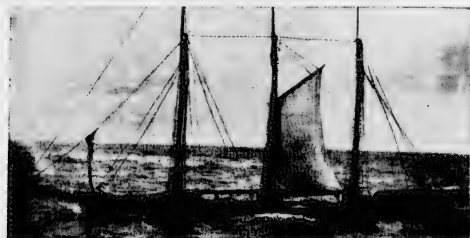

Shortly after the war broke out, a popular song in which references were made to hanging out the wash on the Siegfried Line, caught through the British forces, and these women, "housewives in France," seem to be getting in a bit of practice as they assist a village. This picture gives an excellent indication of the weather which had swept Europe lately, snow being particularly heavy in northern France.

Comfort on Wheels for the Troops

Here is the last word in equipment for British soldiers "up the line," the first of the Y.M.C.A. Tea Cars being inspected in England by Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth. They spent 20 minutes examining the detailed equipment of this car which is fitted to supply 80 gallons of tea without returning to a base, and also to carry hot pies, cigarettes, chocolate, and other articles. Lady Blane is explaining the method of heating the water by oil pressure stove to Her Majesty. Between His Majesty and the Queen is Brigadier Sir John Brown and Major-General L. A. E. Pryce-Davies, V.C., representing the Y.M.C.A.

Schooner's Crew 13 Days Adrift

Down almost to her gunwales in the water, the Nova Scotian schooner Chiscolm is shown, top, before she foundered in the North Atlantic, three days out of Lunenburg. This picture was made from the deck of the Swedish freighter Sagland which picked up the captain and crew of five from the schooner after they had been adrift for 13 days, subsiding on a salvaged log of cedar. The rescued members of the Chiscolm are shown, bottom, grouped about Captain Henrik Bang-Melchior, second from left, of the Sagland. Captain George Corkum, of the Chiscolm is standing beside the Sagland's skipper.

Antiquity Shades Invaders

Riverside family memorial gates, ancient symbols of Chinese ancestor worship, serve as resting places for very modern Japanese soldiers. Troops are part of force occupying Hainan, formerly key position of the Chinese army in Chekiang Province.

Byrdmen's Icy Paths

U-Boat Sent to Bottom

Burning oil sends a column of black smoke to the sky to mark the grave of a U-boat sunk by a British destroyer's death charge. This photograph was taken from the destroyer which accounted for the sub. Several survivors of the sunken submarine were picked up by the destroyer.

Western Front: 'Sitzkrieg'

After a war day's work, these Welsh D.I. washbaths filled with hot water probably seem like all the comforts of home to soldiers of the Dorsetshire County Regiment with the B.E.F. in France.

Pioneers To Make Resort Of Bahamas Island

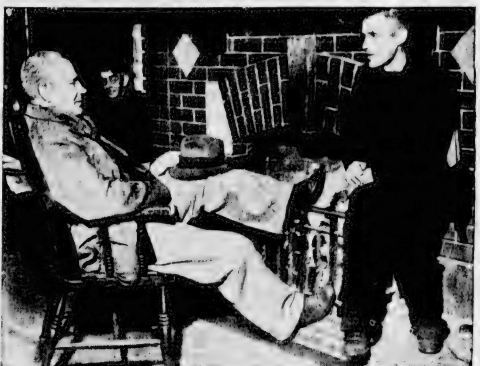

Trail blazing a path across the Caribbean, a group of 200 English pioneers is setting foot on Mount for East Cades, uninhabited island of the Bahamas, colonizing group to develop a summer and winter resort. It will be a honeymoon trip for Jack Thompson, "Red Bank" who once in London had your father being. Youngest members of the group are King and Jack, children of the country's founder, H. C. Jones.

Girls Take Time Out for Royalty

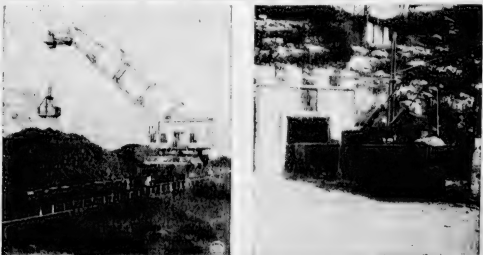

British aircraft factories are rushing production to the utmost, but the superintendent of this one said O.K. when the girl workers took time out to chat with visitors. The "visitors" Elizabeth and King George.

The Better 'Ole—Far Better

A comfortable seat by a warm fire replaces dark cramped, bed-crammed quarters in a prison ship for three two British seamen, pictured recuperating in a London hospital. Their remaining prisoners, captured near Bremen, come out too dressed good. Among them are two German pilots, a German ace, and a German ace.

Italy's Coal Deposits in Sardinia

Italy's shortage of coal, a great military deficiency, was recently lessened when Mussolini ordered all shipments of German coal to Italy halted, pending new war trade agreements. Italy's newly discovered coal deposits on the island of Sardinia, 90 miles west of Rome, have taken on new importance. Electric trains, at right, return underground for more of the black diamonds, which it will add to pile, left, at Carbonara, Sardinian seaport, for shipment to Italy.

The Redbirds have lost five straight.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas—Roughly Virgil Smith, aged 25, says St. Louis Browns can't win anything about the hottest pitcher in the game, because Smith will be their No. 1 catcher this season. Although Smith hit only .263 in the Texas League last year, Smith was 613 in hitting the plate, he led the league in assists and threw out 63 of 112 base stealers.

Great Crowd Cheers Cowboys to 3-1 Win

CALGARY, March 15.—Turner Valley's taunting threat of three straight triumphs in the Alberta Senior hockey final was stuffed down the Oilers' respective throats last night as Calgary Stampede hung a 3-1 defeat on Elmer Piper's pucksters in the second game of the best of five series at Victoria Arena.

One of the season's biggest crowd draws, more than 3,500 persons, swarmed into the rink to cheer the Stampede's victory.

Calgary's victory in Tuesday's opening game, a 3-1 win, was the first of three straight triumphs in the series.

Art Rodmans, the lucky goaltender who personifies the fighting spirit of the Calgary club, made his biggest single contribution to the Stampede's cause in the form of a brilliant display of goal-keeping.

He has been seen here this season. Other playing outstanding roles were Tommy Dewar, who eliminated a sensational defenseman with the first goal of the night; Dave Fairbank, who counted the winning puck in a power play; and some late later and Jim Thorburn, who scored the final goal.
